End User Training and Documentation

End User Training and Documentation enables you document training material and to create E-Learning Maps which are distributed to the relevant end users, who can then use them for self-study purposes. Feedback can be evaluated and used to improve the training materials.

Scope
- Assign all relevant training materials to the business process steps
- The training material can be assigned to SAP or non-SAP business process steps.
- It can describe, depending on the End User Role, the processing of the business processes to which it is assigned
- Training materials can be collected in Learning Maps which can be built based on End User roles

Benefits
- Transfer knowledge to users involved in project effectively, efficiently and promptly
- Easy to use software to manage learning materials, reuse and update materials at any time
- Train users more efficiently
- Reduce travel and training location expenses because users can complete training activities independently at the workplace with reduced absence from work.